Quran, Hadith, And Islam

Synopsis

One of the most important books on the topic, this ground-breaking work offers unique insight into the role of the Quran, and Hadith, in modern-day Islam. Hadith, a collection of sayings attributed to the prophet Muhammad, have long been accepted alongside the Quran, as integral to Islamic thought and practices. This book exposes the damage it has done. A must read for all students of Islam.

Customer Reviews

Excellent book with good news and bad news. This is an excellent book that stimulates the mind into many challenging situations that were accepted by the majority as religiously correct but proved by the author using the Quran alone to be religiously wrong. That is why you see the contradictory evaluation of this book between the one star and the best, five stars. It is GOOD news to the free thinkers and bad news for the others who cannot get themselves to see refreshing and new knowledge. The author boldly challenges the traditionalists into the holiest of their beliefs and prove them wrong using the word of God in the Quran. The author paid his life as a price to upholding the truth of the Quran despite the attacks by those who cannot accept that truth. Like many before him who challenged the establishment, he was accused of being crazy or out of his mind as you can see in some of the reviews here. Traditionalists feel the threat, a book like this one, is doing to the intelligent, well educated, free thinkers who do not accept a single religious teaching without confirmation from the Quran. You will see these traditionalists here and everywhere, there is a glimpse of truth, attacking and accusing, trying their best to distort the image of many authors and their books. We, the readers, are the final judges. Read it for yourself. The book is made of several chapters that start by the teachings of the Quran about obeying the messenger and how this simple command has been abused. It then goes into what the Quran teaches about itself, about God, about other prophets like Abraham, about supporting the messenger and ends by a brief presentation of the Mathematical miracle of the Quran.
